Complaint for Violation of the Campaign Finance and Public Disclosure Act

INTRODUCTION

At best the violators in this case have cavalierly ignored all relevant campaign finance laws resulting in a series of violations; at worst they have systematically colluded and coordinated joint campaign activity between the candidate and political committees in clear violation of Minnesota campaign finance law. The facts which form the basis for this complaint, all taken from their own words, actions, and reports demonstrate that it is the later. Candidate Alan Duff, his agents, and leaders and agent of the Minnesota Tea Party Alliance and New Leadership PAC have colluded and coordinated their activity in one of the most brazen and public violations of Minnesota campaign finance law to date.

Candidate Duff, the Minnesota Tea Party Alliance, and New Leadership PAC have systematically colluded and coordinated to violate, at least, Minnesota’s campaign finance laws concerning:

- candidate contribution limits,
- independent expenditure requirements,
- independent expenditure disclaimer requirements, and
- disclosure of receipts and expenditures.
Their illegal activity is well documented on the record and in their campaign finance reports. In short, candidate Duff, the Minnesota Tea Party Alliance, and New Leadership PAC have (in whole or in part) effectuated their collusion and coordination in the following ways:

- Through the use of a shared vendor Veni Graphic, owned and operated by Donald Niemi (who also is a leader of the Minnesota Tea Party Alliance) candidate Duff, the Tea Party Alliance and New Leadership PAC coordinated content and timing of campaign material in support of Alan Duff's candidacy.

- On multiple occasions the candidate himself (and his agents) and agents of one of the political committees involved have utilized a Tea Party-sponsored podcast to collude and coordinate campaign activity, going so far as to celebrate and boast about their activity.

This Complaint requires neither speculation nor conjecture, all of the facts establishing clear, consistent, and multiple campaign finance violations are taken directly from the words spoken by Candidate Duff and agents of the Minnesota Tea Party Alliance, and the campaign material distributed and the reports filed under oath by all involved herein.

FACTS

The Parties and their close ties.

1. Duff (Alan) 4 House is the principal campaign committee for Alan Duff in his election campaign for Minnesota House District 31A in the 2016 primary election. It registered with the Board on June 6, 2016.¹

2. MN Tea Party Alliance is a Political Committee that registered with the Board on April 25, 2013. The Chair of the MN Tea Party Alliance is Jack Rogers of Ham Lake, MN. The Treasurer of MN Tea Party Alliance is Don L. Niemi of Andover, MN. MN Tea Party Alliance engages in express advocacy via "independent expenditure" communications.²

² Ex. B.
3. Action 4 Liberty, formerly known as MN Tea Party Alliance, is an active domestic Nonprofit Corporation (Domestic) registered with the MN Secretary of State under Minn. Stat. § 317A. Its President is Jake Duesenberg of Woodbury, MN.³

4. Jake Duesenberg of Action 4 Liberty is Candidate Duff’s agent and an advisor to the MN Tea Party Alliance. As of July 27, 2016, Mr. Duesenberg was “listed on the website of the Tea Party Alliance as executive director” and serves as Candidate Duff’s “unpaid adviser.”⁴ Indeed, Candidate Duff’s May 31, 2016, campaign announcement states that “Alan’s campaign will have an advisory committee made up of . . . President of Action 4 Liberty, Jake Duesenberg” and identifies Jake Duesenberg as a Point of Contact for the announcement.⁵

5. New Leadership PAC is a Political Committee that registered with the Board on June 29, 2016. Sheila Kihne of Eden Prairie, MN is the Chair and Treasurer of the New Leadership PAC. New Leadership PAC occasionally engages in express advocacy via “independent expenditure” communications.⁶

6. Veni Graphics, Inc. is a Business Corporation (Domestic) registered with the MN Secretary of State which lists its Chief Executive Officer as Donald Lee Niemi of Andover, MN. Based on information and belief, Donald Niemi is the only employee of Veni Graphics, Inc.⁷ As detailed further below, Veni Graphics, Inc. is the vendor for Duff (Alan) 4 House, MN Tea Party Alliance, and New Leadership PAC.

In a Podcast, Parties identify and advance Duff’s central campaign issue:

7. Action 4 Liberty, formerly incorporated as MN Tea Party Alliance, hosts the “Living Free Podcast,” a semi-regular podcast hosted by Duesenberg and Rogers.⁸

8. On June 1, 2016, Alan Duff (Candidate), Jake Duesenberg (Candidate's agent), and Jack Rogers (Chairman of MN Tea Party Alliance IE Committee) were on the "Living Free Podcast," Episode 110.⁹

9. Episode # 110 featured Candidate Duff’s candidacy for Minnesota House District 31A, described by the podcast as follows:

On this episode of the podcast we talk to Alan Duff, who is challenging Speaker Kurt Daudt in the August primary. . . . We discuss why he is running for office, some of his ideas about government and how he plans to win.\(^{10}\)

10. At minute 30:36 of Episode # 110, the Candidate, Candidate’s agent, and the Agent of the MN Tea Party Alliance began discussing strategies to "win" the election facing Candidate Duff. The first topic raised and highlighted as important to Duff’s campaign related to a proposed license tab increase during the 2016 Minnesota Legislative Session.\(^{11}\)

Parties shared vendor, Veni Graphics, Inc, advanced Duff’s central campaign issue.

11. Six days later, on June 7, 2016, MN Tea Party Alliance prepared and paid $1,949.21 to Veni Graphics, Inc.” for an independent expenditure\(^{12}\) on behalf of candidate Duff. It highlighted the very topic discussed by the parties earlier, the proposed license tab increase from the 2016 Minnesota Legislative Session.\(^ {13}\) However, upon close examination of what was reported as an independent expenditure, the material itself fails to include the statutorily required independent expenditure disclaimer.

12. In his pre-primary report, Candidate Duff and his Committee report paying vendor Veni Graphics, Inc. $2,829.89 for the preparation and production and mailing of advertisements for Mr. Duff’s campaign.\(^ {14}\)

13. In its pre-primary report, New Leadership PAC also paid Mr. Niemi and his firm Veni Graphics, Inc. a total of $1,887.98\(^ {15}\) to produce independent expenditures that campaigned on behalf of Mr. Duff by highlighting the license tab fee increase.\(^ {16}\)

14. In his pre-primary report, Candidate Duff has not reported any form of campaign contribution from MN Tea Party Alliance, New Leadership PAC, or Veni Graphics, Inc..\(^ {17}\)

In their podcast, the Parties underscore the central role that Veni Graphics, Inc. plays in advancing Duff’s central campaign issue.

15. On July 20, 2016, Jake Duesenberg (Candidate’s agent) and Jack Rogers (Chairman of MN Tea Party Alliance IE committee) hosted their "Living Free Podcast" episode “#115 – Just Two Guys Talking,” described by the podcast as follows:

On this episode of the podcast, Jack and Jake discuss what’s on the top of their minds in this election season. There is a way people at home can make a huge difference in this election cycle. Listen and find out how.18

16. Episode “#115 – Just Two Guys Talking” was sponsored by Veni Graphics. On or around 30 minutes and 30 seconds into the podcast, Mr. Duesenberg and Mr. Rogers begin to discuss their work with "Don," the operator of Veni Graphics, Inc., and how he is busy until "the primary."19

17. In addition, Mr. Duesenberg, an agent of Candidate Duff’s campaign, discusses working with “Don,” which demonstrates that Mr. Niemi has not established or maintained a firewall between himself, his political committee clients, and the Candidate that is necessary to protect the independence of an expenditure.20

18. At this same time, Candidate Duff continued to coordinate the message concerning car tab fees as a central theme to his campaign.21

19. On Episode 116 of the Living Free Podcast, broadcast on July 28, 2016, Candidate’s agent and Chairman of the MN Tea Party Alliance are in Candidate Duff’s district working on his campaign.22 Throughout the podcast, Candidate’s agent and Chairman of the MN Tea Party Alliance underscore how they are “working together”—with the help of Mr. Niemi of Veni Graphics, Inc., to elect Mr. Duff. The hosts’ statements include:

“Just think of the book we are going to write after we put these two men [including Duff] in office.”23

“Both Kurt Daudt and Tom Hackbarth both have F’s—they wouldn’t make it out of their grade, they would be flunked. So what we are trying to do is flunk them this year and put in people that pass and understand what is necessary.”

“You know what’s necessary? Don Neimi and Veni Graphics. . . He’s working day and night for us right now.”

As they discuss their campaign activity, Jake states that they have been “making lots of phone calls and door knocking, and that’s going to be Jack’s and my life for the next two weeks.” Jack responds, “Yup, you gotta call one of us and volunteer to help on either one of the campaigns.”

20. As a vendor to the campaign of Candidate Duff, Mr. Niemi would have intimate, non-public information regarding the development and targeting of campaign materials for Candidate Duff in addition to knowledge of plans for the campaign and independent expenditure committees and how to coordinate said expenditures.

21. As a vendor to the MN Tea Party Alliance IE Committee and the registered agent of the same committee, and as a vendor to New Leadership PAC, Mr. Niemi would have intimate, non-public information regarding the production, development and targeting of “independent expenditures” made on behalf of Candidate Duff, to having intimate, non-public information regarding the development of internal campaign strategies and expenditures for Duff’s principal campaign committee.

22. As a vendor to New Leadership PAC, Mr. Niemi would have intimate, non-public information regarding the development and targeting of campaign materials for “independent expenditures” produced on behalf of Candidate Duff in addition to having intimate, non-public information regarding the development of internal campaign strategies and expenditures for Candidate Duff’s principal campaign committee.

Applicable Law

"Independent Expenditure" Defined:

"Independent expenditure" means an expenditure expressly advocating the election or defeat of a clearly identified candidate, if the expenditure is made without the express or implied consent, authorization, or cooperation of, and not in concert with or at the request or suggestion of, any candidate or any candidate's principal campaign committee or agent. An independent expenditure is not a contribution to that candidate.

Minn. Stat. § 10A.01, subd. 18 (emphasis added).

Independent Expenditure Disclosure and Penalty:

[A]n individual, political committee, political fund, principal campaign committee, or party unit that independently solicits or accepts contributions or makes independent expenditures on behalf of a candidate must publicly disclose that the expenditure is an independent expenditure. All written communications with those from whom contributions are independently solicited or accepted or to whom independent expenditures are made on behalf of a candidate must contain a statement in conspicuous type that the activity is an independent expenditure and is not approved by the candidate nor is the candidate responsible for it. Similar language must be included in all oral communications, in conspicuous type on the front page of all literature and advertisements published or posted, and at the end of all broadcast advertisements made by that individual, political committee, political fund, principal campaign committee, or party unit on the candidate's behalf.

Minn. Stat. 10A.17, subd. 4(a) (emphasis added).

A person who knowingly violates subdivision 4 or falsely claims that an expenditure is an independent expenditure is guilty of a gross misdemeanor and subject to a civil penalty imposed by the board of up to $3,000.

Id. at subd. 5 (emphasis added).

Contribution Limit:

[A] candidate must not permit the candidate’s principal campaign committee to accept aggregate contributions made or delivered by an individual, political committee, political fund, or association not registered with the board in excess of the following:

(5) to a candidate for state representative, $1,000 in the election segment of an election cycle for the office sought.]

Minn. Stat. § 10A.27, subd. 1(a)(5).

Advisory Opinion 410:

Advisory Opinion 410 concludes that expenditures made by independent expenditure campaign committee to a vendor who also works for a candidate are not independent expenditures:

IPEC hires a consultant who also provides consulting services to the candidate which will benefit from the IEPC’s independent expenditure.

Opinion: If a consultant providing services on messaging and timing of independent expenditures for the IEPC also provides messaging and campaign services to a candidate, the independence of the IEPC’s expenditures advocating the election of the candidate are not independent. The Board believes that it is not possible for a single individual to avoid coordination of effort between the two clients even if an attempt to do so is made. The Board has previously discussed the separation required in a consulting firm doing work for both an independent expenditure spender and a potentially affected candidate. See Advisory Opinions 338 and 400. It is not possible to maintain the required degree of separation when all of the work for both clients is handled by the same individual. An individual cannot maintain the required separation of effort.
Violations

Based on the facts presented above and corresponding exhibits, the Board must exercise its authority under Minn. Stat. § 10A.022, subd. 3 and sanction Duff (Alan) 4 House, MN Tea Party Alliance, and New Leadership PAC for violating Minnesota law. Specifically, the expenditures that MN Tea Party Alliance and New Leadership PAC report as independent are in fact campaign contributions to Duff (Alan) 4 House that exceed the contribution limits establish by law.

According to their own pre-primary reports to the Board, Duff (Alan) 4 House, MN Tea Party Alliance, and New Leadership PAC coordinated expenditures by hiring a shared vendor, Mr. Niemi of Veni Graphics, Inc., to prepare and deliver campaign material on behalf of Mr. Duff. The vendor hired, as noted above, is also the Treasurer of the MN Tea Party Alliance. As this Board has previously indicated, the vendor of the campaign cannot also serve entities engaged in independent expenditure activity on that same candidate’s behalf. Indeed, because Mr. Niemi is also the Treasurer of the Minnesota Tea Party Alliance, and is statutorily obliged to approve all expenditures of that entity, is seems impossible that he would ever be in a position to serve as Candidate Duff’s campaign vendor so long as the Minnesota Tea Party Alliance engaged in independent expenditure activity on Candidate Duff’s behalf.

In addition, as noted above, Candidate Duff’s comments on the Living Free podcast establish that none of the expenditures by the MN Tea Party Alliance or New Leadership PAC were independent. Candidate Duff identifies the central issue of his campaign that he wants highlighted by other groups (specifically the license tab fee proposal) and they respond within days. This is clear indication of a request for an independent expenditure.

Additionally, the Living Free podcast, hosted by the Candidate’s advisor and the Chair of the MN Tea Party Alliance becomes the venue for the candidate’s committee and the political committees to coordinate message and timing. In fact, they not only identify and advance Candidate Duff’s principal campaign issue, but also describe the central role that their shared vendor, Veni Graphics, Inc., (and Don Niemi) plays in advancing that same issue.

In short, there is nothing independent about the campaign material Mr. Niemi prepared and delivered for both political committees. MN Tea Party Alliance and New Leadership PAC did not make independent expenditures on behalf of Mr. Duff when they paid for Mr. Niemi’s services. Rather, they misrepresented their contributions to Mr. Duff as independent expenditures in violation of the law. Indeed, MN Tea Party Alliance’s failure to disclaim the mailer prepared by Mr. Niemi as an independent expenditure—which is required by law—is de facto evidence of illegal coordination.\textsuperscript{30} As a result:

1. Alan Duff and Duff (Alan) 4 House violated Minn. Stat. § 10A.27, subd. 1(a)(5) by accepting contributions from MN Tea Party Alliance in the amount of $1,949.21, and contributions from New Leadership PAC in the amount of $1,887.98, each of which exceed legal limit of $1,000.

2. MN Tea Party Alliance has violated Minn. Stat. § 10A.17, subd. 4(a) by falsely reporting the $1,949.21 contribution to Mr. Duff as an independent expenditure.\textsuperscript{31}

3. New Leadership PAC has violated Minn. Stat. § 10A.17, subd. 4(a) by falsely reporting the $1,887.98 contribution to Mr. Duff as an independent expenditure.

Pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 10A.022, subd. 3, I submit to the Minnesota Campaign Finance and Public Disclosure Board ("Board") this Complaint against: Candidate Alan Duff, Duff (Alan) 4 House, Duff's principal campaign committee; MN Tea Party Alliance, a political committee registered with the Board; and New Leadership PAC, a political committee registered with the Board. As demonstrated by the facts presented below, the expenditures that MN Tea Party Alliance and New Leadership PAC report as independent are in fact campaign contributions to Duff (Alan) 4 House that exceed the contribution limits established by law. Thus, the Board must exercise its authority under Minn. Stat. § 10A.022, subd. 3 and sanction: Duff (Alan) 4 House for violating Minn. Stat. 10A.27, subd. 1(a)(5) by accepting illegal campaign contributions; MN Tea Party Alliance for violating Minn. Stat. § 10A.17, subd. 4(a) by reporting campaign contributions as independent expenditures; and New Leadership PAC for violating Minn. Stat. § 10A.17, subd. 4(a) by reporting campaign contributions as independent expenditures.

Respectfully Submitted,

Matt Stevens

\textsuperscript{30} Even if the parties intended to coordinate the expenditures—a feeble defense in light of the evidence—their disclosures violate the law: Candidate Duff violated Minn. Stat. § 10A.20, subd. 3 by failing to appropriately report the expenditures, see Ex. J; and MN Tea Party violated Minn. Stat. § 10A.17, subd. 4(a) by failing to disclaim the expenditure as an independent expenditure. See Ex. I at 2.

Morning Hot Dish: Will diversity outreach be enough for Clinton?

By J. Patrick Coolican  JULY 27, 2016 — 11:15AM

By J. PATRICK COOLICAN

Star Tribune staff writer

PHILADELPHIA — Good morning. Another day of the DNC is in the books. Smoother day inside the hall for the Dems, with Hillary Clinton becoming the first woman to be nominated by a major party, after Sen. Bernie Sanders moved to suspend the rules and nominate her by acclamation. (Emotional moment when Bernie Sanders’ brother cast his ballot for his brother, both in tears (http://email.startribune.com/a/hRXmMG2B8wRdcB8kYd3AAb/pol13/).) There were still demonstrations outside the hall, however.

There’s an old story (perhaps apocryphal) from the 1992 GOP convention when Ronald Reagan gave what would turn out to be a farewell speech to the Republican National Convention and a member of the liberal media elite said in frustration, “He’s doing it again!” Meaning, romancing the crowd and the public in a way only he could and thwarting the dreams of Democrats hoping to upend a long period of GOP ascendency. As it turned out, Reagan’s effort was not enough to propel George H.W. Bush, who was beaten by a young governor of Arkansas.

I can imagine conservative Republicans feeling the same frustration — “He’s doing it again!” — about former President Bill Clinton, who addressed the crowd Tuesday night. Clinton changed the trajectory of the 2012 race with a speech at the Democratic National Convention when he seemed to be able to explain Obama’s policies better than Obama.

(I’ve seen this in my own father, a conservative Republican, who has watched Clinton for a quarter century with what I would call a “loathing admiration” for his political talents.)

Last night, Clinton essentially re-introduced America to Hillary Rodham Clinton, beginning with a love story about meeting her at Yale Law School, a story he has told hundreds of times. (People who speak to audiences should take note: Tell a story.)

Despite the huge hall and the national television audience, Clinton has always had the ability to convey intimacy. His own apparent physical frailty and a tremor in his hand gave the scene a hint of vulnerability. He went on for more than 40 minutes with an array of stories about the seemingly endless bullet points on Hillary Clinton’s resume doing this, that and the other for children’s health and children with disabilities and on and on. (It really would be the best college application in the history of the world.)

He closed saying that what you’ve heard about Hillary Clinton this campaign from the other side is a “cartoon” and a lie, that she is the best “change maker” (ugh to that phrase) he has ever met.

For a minute I thought the crowd was flat before realizing I had my noise-canceling headphones on. They were roaring by the end.

Bill Clinton is still broadly popular. His political skills are not in dispute, whether you love or despise him. Will his speech lend credibility to his wife’s campaign? We will know in a week or two if this convention was effective. If it is, then Bill Clinton will have gone some way to making up for a lifetime of marital failings.
Here's the AP.
(http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/pol4)

Sean Trend, smart, GOP leaning election analyst, with some real talk: All campaign, for a year, people have been talking down Donald Trump's chances. He's been beating expectations every time. There's no reason to think he won't do it again. The reality of this race is that it's a tossup at the moment. Read it
(http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/pol5).

More on Bill Clinton: If you're younger than about 30, you probably don't have much understanding of what America was like when he was elected president in 1992, unless you read books, and you probably don't because you spend all your time on Snapchat or MySpace or whatever. This ignorance helps explain how Clinton's 90s record was re-litigated during the Democratic primary, with WJC's New Democrat tenure painted as an era of mass incarceration and corporatism.

The reality is that Republicans had won five of six presidential elections and suburban America had no confidence Democrats could govern, so Clinton moved the party right on crime, welfare and business. Clinton changed the electoral map, with the help of some good luck. It was a period of peace and prosperity, albeit with foreign and domestic calamities lying beneath the surface. Matthew Yglesias has more
(http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/pol6).

Despite Day last night's show of unity with Sanders, even if Clinton wins, she will have far less space to operate than her husband or Obama. She will continue to face a restive left. Of course, on the upside for her, that creates an opportunity to revive a great retro term from the 1990s: Triangulation!

Tonight, President Obama and Vice President Joe Biden take the stage. Just a guess: I expect Biden's endorsement to be personal and aimed at the middle class ethnic Catholics Clinton needs. Obama will talk up Clinton as commander-in-chief. Tim Kaine, the vice presidential nominee, will get his introduction to the public. (Important question: Did Tim Kaine used to be hot?
(http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/pol7))

Sen. Amy Klobuchar got a good speaking slot and discussed human trafficking and Clinton's battle to end it during her career.
(http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/pol8). Oof: Chris Cillizza, who can be said to represent Beltway conventional wisdom and has long talked up Klobuchar as a possible national political candidate, rated Klob a "loser" on his list of "winners and losers."
(http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/pol9) last night.

Observation from the hall and listening to a lot of speeches: Good oratory is difficult. Difficult to write and difficult to execute. Which makes it rare. Just an FYI after spending about four hours listening to speeches Tuesday night.

Spent Tuesday morning with Klobuchar as she visited the delegate breakfasts of California, Florida, both huge states whose breakfasts require a big wedding sized ballroom. She also visited...Iowa. Hmmm. More on that later this week.

Congrats to Mallory Wegemann, Eagan native who won a gold medal at the Paralympic Games in London and led the Pledge of Allegiance at the DNC Tuesday. From the release: "This is an amazing platform for the Paralympic Movement," Mallory said. "It is tremendous honor to be on this stage and to show others the strength that athletes like myself, who have been paralyzed, or face other physical challenges, truly have."

Patrick Condon and I wrote about the diversity of the Minnesota delegation
(http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/polH0), which is quite remarkable, reflecting the convention as a whole. (Peter Beinart (http://email.startribune.com/a/hBXMzMGZ58wRdcB8xYd3AAA2aoP7/polI1) says the dividing line in this election is not left and right, domestic or foreign policy, but "multicultural, cosmopolitan America or nostalgia America.") If Democrats lose this election, it will be because they overlearned Obama’s victories (or learned the wrong lessons) and bet too heavily on a diverse coalition and lost too many white men in the process. It’s sad that we calculate elections in such stark racial terms, but this is nothing new.

Also interesting about the Minnesota delegation: Far more diverse than the legislative caucuses, which remain stubbornly monochromatic due in part to a lack of term limits.

I get email: Good morning, J. Patrick! I wanted to personally invite you to a very special and intimate dinner with special guests: U.S. Senator Al Franken and Vice President Walter Mondale on Thursday, August 25th at the award winning restaurant Spoon and Stable (Private room). This will be a great opportunity to have dinner with our junior U.S. Senator and Former Vice President to talk to them about the 2016 races. Please note that there is very limited seating for this dinner, so RSVP’s will be on a first come, first serve basis.

Only $1,000. At least they didn't call me "Pat."

Cummins is a big GOP donor, wife of Robert Cummins of Primera Technology. What do they have against Daudt?

Daudt walked back
(http://email.startribune.com/a/h8XmMG2B8wRde8ByYd3AAA2aoP7/poli19)'s comment from last week that he managed to get Gov. Mark Dayton to “cave” in special session negotiations. Except, he didn’t really.

Meanwhile, his opponent’s unpaid adviser, Jake Duesenberg, is listed on the website of the Tea Party Alliance as executive director. Tea Party Alliance has an independent expenditure against Daudt. That’s against the rules that forbid coordination between IE and candidate.

Duesenberg tells me he quit the Tea Party Alliance in December and has asked to be removed from the website.

Expect an official complaint from Daudt allies on this, which should tell you how nervous they are about his primary.

Big report for Dario Anselmo, GOP challenger to Rep. Ron Erhardt in Edina (49a): $71,443, according to release. Big problem for DFL if Anselmo wins this seat, though Trump is likely a big drag.

And a tipster points me to the report of Candy Sina, seeking the open Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Bev Scalze. Sina used campaign funds to buy a $4,809 golf cart. Nicely done.

Michael Jordan with a statement about killings of young black men and police [http://email.startribune.com/a/hbXmMG2B8wRdc88xYd3AAA2aoP7/poli25]. Arrests outside the governor’s residence [http://email.startribune.com/a/hbXmMG2B8wRdc88xYd3AAA2aoP7/poli28] of demonstrators, many of them there since the killing of Philando Castile. I drove by there a few times last weekend and everything seemed peaceful, even if it gave off a homeless encampment vibe. Cops moved in when they saw people sleeping on the street on blankets. Conflict became more intense around midnight.

Feeling down? Read about Nobel Peace Prize Winner Malala Yousafzai [http://email.startribune.com/a/hbXmMG2B8wRdc88xYd3AAA2aoP7/poli29], who was in the Twin Cities Tuesday: The 19-year-old Pakistani activist who survived an assassination attempt by the Taliban for speaking up for girls’ education rights made a surprise visit at a lunch with 20 star-struck girls, followed by an evening inspiring a much larger crowd. About 5,000 people — many of them girls — packed Target Center to hear Yousafzai tell her life story and encourage them to believe in themselves and use their voices to change the world.

"Sometimes we feel like I’m just one girl. But look at this place here, how many people are here. The change we can bring, it’s amazing," she told the crowd. "Always believe in yourself, whatever mission you have in life. Don’t put limits on your life."

- FY2022 Budget: An Overview of Proposed Changes and Implications for Veterans Affairs and Other Federal Spending

The President's budget request for FY2022 includes significant changes to federal spending, particularly in the areas of veterans affairs and other programs. The budget proposes new initiatives to address veterans' needs, improve access to healthcare, and support economic stability. Additionally, it seeks to enhance education and workforce development programs, focusing on preparing individuals for the future labor market.

In a statement accompanying the budget proposal, the President emphasized the importance of investing in our nation's veterans and vulnerable populations. "We must ensure that our hard-won freedoms are protected and that our veterans are provided with the support they deserve," the President said. "This includes funding for research, education, and veterans' benefits, as well as investments in infrastructure and technology to support our communities."

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SCHEDULE B3 - IND

Use this schedule to itemize independent expenditures made by your committee to advocate the election or defeat of a state legislative, judicial or constitutional office candidate only.

Independent expenditure definition:
- An independent expenditure is an expenditure that advocates the election or defeat of a clearly identified candidate that is made without the express or implied consent, authorization, cooperation of, and not in concert with, or at the request or suggestion of any candidate, candidate's treasurer, or candidate's agent.

Reporting Instructions for Independent Expenditures
- List independent expenditures alphabetically by the last name of the candidate that the expenditure was for or against.
- In the vendor column, list the name and address of the vendor paid. Use additional rows for multiple independent expenditures affecting the same candidate.
- Itemize an expenditure to a particular vendor only if your committee spent more than $200 with the vendor on independent expenditures. For example, if your committee purchased a $150 advertisement for candidate A and another advertisement worth $60 for candidate B you would list the vendor for each candidate because total independent expenditures with the vendor exceeds $200. You only need to provide the address of a vendor the first time you list the vendor on schedule B3.
- If you do not spend more than $200 with a vendor on independent expenditures you do not itemize the expenditures to that vendor under any candidate's name. Instead you include the amount in the Non-Itemized Independent Expenditure total at the bottom of the schedule.
- Be sure to indicate if each itemized expenditure was for or against the candidate.
- If your committee makes an independent expenditure that lists more than one candidate you must allocate the cost of the expenditure between the candidates and report the allocated amount under each candidate's name.
- Return a completed Affidavit of Independent Expenditures (on the bottom of this page) with your report.

AFFIDAVIT OF INDEPENDENT EXPENDITURES

STATE ENGINEER, COUNTY OF [Hennepin] ss

I, the undersigned treasurer, being first duly sworn, states as follows:

1. The New Leadership PAC made independent expenditures as described on schedule B3-Ind of the report which this affidavit accompanies. The independent expenditures made by the committee were not made with the authorization or expressed or implied consent of, or in cooperation or in concert with, or at the request or suggestion of any candidate, any candidate's principal campaign committee or agent.

Retired major giving House Speaker Daudt challenge in primary

Military veteran Alan Duff will take him on in the GOP primary Aug. 9.

By J. Patrick Coolican (http://www.startribune.com/j-patrick-coolidge/275328091/) Star Tribune
JULY 24, 2016 — 9:01AM

As House Speaker Kurt Daudt hobnobbed with influential Republicans last week at the GOP national convention in Cleveland, a pesky competitor was hustling for votes back home, trying to unseat the first-term speaker.

But it is not what you might think: The challenger is from Daudt’s own party.

Alan Duff, a retired major from the U.S. Army Reserve and small-business man, is taking on Daudt in the GOP primary Aug. 9, telling voters that the speaker has betrayed the trust of the district’s conservative Republicans.

Duff has won the endorsement of the mayor of one of the district’s largest cities and has been knocking on doors for two months, hoping that in a low turnout primary he can summon enough disenchanted voters for what would be a shocking upset of a man many Republicans eye as a potential governor or congressman.

Daudt’s GOP primary challenge, which the speaker says is being engineered by foes from outside the district, illustrates the complex demands placed on Republican officeholders these days, especially in a divided government.

On the one hand, according to the demands of party activists can be costly: Former GOP House Speaker Kurt Zellers of Maple Grove pushed through constitutional amendments in 2012 banning same-sex marriage and requiring tougher voter ID laws that appealed to more conservative donors and activists, but he lost his leadership post after the next election when voters rejected the constitutional provisions and handed DFLers control of the House.

On the other hand, conservative-leaning voters have grown impatient with the conventions of governing, which likely cost the former U.S. Speaker of the House John Boehner his job when he made deals with President Obama to keep the machinery of the federal government moving, to the dismay of the most strident members of his caucus.

Angry GOP voters say they want change immediately and do not cotton to compromise, even on such basic issues as deciding on a state budget with the governor and Senate, both currently in DFL hands.

At the state Republican convention this spring, activists passed out flyers saying Daudt had betrayed conservatives by offering to raise license tab fees $100 million as a way to compromise with DFL Gov. Mark Dayton on new transportation spending.

“I understand they’re frustrated. And I’m frustrated too. But in divided government you don’t get everything you want,” Daudt said at a Zimmerman Dunn Bros. Coffee in his district.

“My advice to them would be: Join us. Let’s work on winning the Senate this year. And let’s work on winning the governor’s office in two years,” said Daudt, who will be at the top of any list of viable Republican candidates for governor in 2018 if he holds control of the House in November.

During Daudt’s rapid rise — he was elected in 2010 and speaker just four years later — he has shown a natural instinct for media, fundraising and politics.

For Duff and his backers, however, Daudt is just another Republican gone soft in St. Paul.

“The voice I’ve heard from everybody on the streets is, What happened to conservative leadership?” said Duff, who served on the Isanti City Council and then the Isanti County Commission. (He and Daudt overlapped for two years on the County Board before Daudt won his House seat.)

Duff cites the Daudt proposal to raise car tab fees as a prime example.

"I don't understand a Republican asking for that increase," he said.

Daudt replied that his 18-month campaign against Dayton's gas tax increase was ultimately successful. He said the car tab proposal was a tactical ploy to show Minnesotans that Dayton wasn't serious about making a deal on transportation, a Daudt priority since so many rural residents are driving on crumbling roads.

Duff also points to what he views as unacceptable spending increases and the House GOP's proposal — currently in limbo as Daudt negotiates with Dayton — to borrow $1 billion to spend on infrastructure like roads, bridges and water systems.

"We have a large surplus. During that time we have a Republican asking for bonding, for more debts, for roads. That's not the way I manage my family household," Duff said.

Daudt said that the two-year general fund budget passed in 2015 included one of the lowest increases in the past 50 years, an assessment backed by the state budget office. And, Daudt said, he has directed spending toward more rural districts like his, including money for nursing homes, schools and transportation.

The speaker said his friendly, moderate demeanor can be misunderstood: He has one of the most conservative voting records in the House.

Daudt said he is taking nothing for granted and managed to throw a barber at his former County Board colleague, attacking Duff's past support for commuter rail. Daudt has been a fierce opponent to the Southwest Light Rail Transit extension from downtown Minneapolis to Eden Prairie.

In the end, Daudt seems confident he will beat Duff. "This is my community. These are my friends. These are my neighbors," he said. "These people go to church with me. I know these people. I am these people. I feel and think the same way they do, because I come from this community. I don't have to pretend to be something else," he said.

But Daudt also said he's aware of "the bubble," the phenomenon of lawmakers forgetting that most people carry on with their lives, only vaguely aware of the decisions and battles that consume the Capitol chambers for months each year.

Of the five locals in Dunn Bros, three were not familiar with Daudt, while the other two were DFLers. The guy working at Hair Trigger Gun Shop doesn't know Daudt's name, either.

The one-chair barbershop in Zimmerman is a taxidermy showcase featuring a moose, 12-point bucks, northern, walleyes and a stuffed beaver.

When you want to pay barber William Gulick with a check, you make it out to "Barber," which is the shop's simple name. It's housed in an old bank. Gulick keeps his guns in the giant vault.

"Out of the cities, we're pretty darned conservative," Gulick said as he neatly trimmed the hair and mustache of a customer.

Gulick said he knows about Daudt and is generally supportive but couldn't imagine getting himself worked up enough to vote in the primary.

He grew reflective, leaning on Ecclesiastes: "We all look in the mirror and see one thing. But the world sees another. It's vanity."
